

Here is a little secret, I love to doodle mandala circles. I find it stress-relieving and it is a fun way to pass time! I have linked a video that shows the step by step process to creating a mandala. There are several videos on youtube, but I chose this one because you do not need any special drawing tools such as a compass. If you enjoy this I encourage you to look up other tutorials as well. As always, please send me your work
